Liberty retains the right to amend or remove these Terms and Conditions of Use at any time. You should, therefore, regularly consult the most recent version of these Terms and Conditions of Use. The applicable Terms and Conditions of Use are those in effect when the Website is used.

1.3 Website ownership and use, copyrights, trademarks, and logos

Unless otherwise indicated, the Website and all trademarks and logos used on it are the exclusive property of Liberty. The entire content of the Website is protected by copyright. The storing or printing of individual pages or sections of the Website is permitted provided neither the copyright notices nor other legally protected designations are removed. Users storing or otherwise reproducing software or other data from the Website are deemed in so doing to have accepted the relevant Terms and Conditions of Use. Liberty retains full title and ownership to any intellectual property or licensing rights. The redistribution (electronic or by other means), reproduction, modification, linking or use of all or any part of the Website contents in any form for public or commercial purposes is prohibited without Liberty's express prior written permission.

1.4 No offer, no obligation

The information about pension products and services, opinions, mathematical results and financial analyses published on the Website is made available without obligation and DOES NOT IN ANY EVENT CONSTITUTE AN OFFER, RECOMMENDATION OR INVITATION to buy or sell investment instruments, or to carry out or conclude any legal transaction. In particular, invitations to order online contractual documentation for certain investment products are not binding offers but merely invitations to make offers. The fact that interested parties can access the Website does not make them clients of Liberty.

1.5 No advice

The data and information on the Website IS NOT INTENDED TO CONSTITUTE A DECISION-MAKING BASIS with regard to economic, legal, tax or any other consulting matters. Nor should any investment or other decisions be taken on the sole basis of such data and information. You are advised to seek expert guidance.

Liability for any auxiliary agents is also fully excluded.

Moreover, Liberty shall in no event be liable for any manipulations of the user's computer system by unauthorised parties. Liberty Pension expressly draws the user's attention to the risk and possibility of viruses, other damaging components, and targeted hacking attacks. To combat viruses, we recommend that you use current browser versions and that you regularly update your anti-virus software. Emails from unknown sources and unannounced email attachments should in principle not be opened.

The information on the Website is made available "as seen" and "as available". Liberty does not warrant fault-free, uninterrupted access to the Website, or that deficiencies will be eliminated and that there will not be any other kind of technical problems during its use.

1.7 Performance and risks

Future investment performance cannot be extrapolated from past trends, i.e. investment values may rise or fall. Past changes in asset value are therefore no guarantee for future performance. There is no guarantee that the asset value of investments made with Liberty will be maintained or increased, since the value of investments is subject to market and price fluctuations. Under certain circumstances, certain investments may not be able to be readily traded and may be difficult to sell or realise. It may be difficult for you to obtain reliable information as to the value of such investments or the related risks. Potential investors should also take due account of the special risks in connection with international and global investments, investments in small companies, funds or investment strategies geared to a specific industry, country or region, or otherwise specialised, aggressive or concentrated investment strategies involving recourse to third-party funds or derivatives. Under no circumstances, therefore, may any assertions made on the Website be construed to constitute binding or conclusive advice or recommendations.
